MICHAEL F. EASLEY
GOVERNOR

READY NORTH CAROLINA MONTH

2007

BY THE GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the Atlantic Ocean is half way through a 20 year periodic cycle of heightened hurricane activity; and

WHEREAS, in the last five years North Carolina has been struck by nearly 200 tornadoes, more than 4,300 severe thunderstorms, 15 tropical systems, and numerous blizzards, crippling ice storms and intense heat; and

WHEREAS, North Carolina is vulnerable to all types of severe weather and is also at risk for earthquakes, contagious diseases, and terrorism; and

WHEREAS, North Carolinians must be ready year-round for natural and man-made disasters that might disrupt their normal daily activity; and

WHEREAS, people should be prepared in their homes, businesses and schools and have a plan for each location on what to do and where to go if a disaster occurs; and

WHEREAS, citizens should help the elderly and those who cannot help themselves; and

WHEREAS, citizens should include the safety of their pets or livestock in their emergency plans; and

WHEREAS, the state websites, ReadyNC.org and ListoNC.org, are available to help residents with their emergency preparedness plans; and

WHEREAS, the N.C. Department of Crime Control and Public Safety, the N.C. Emergency Management Association, Citizen Corps and the U.S. Department of Homeland Security have collaborated to recognize September as National Preparedness Month to inform and educate North Carolinians about the importance of being prepared;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, MICHAEL F. EASLEY, Governor of the State of North Carolina, do hereby proclaim the month of September 2007, as "READY NORTH CAROLINA MONTH" and call upon our citizens and interested groups to observe the month with appropriate ceremonies and activities that promote citizen preparedness and staying safe.
